

TRUE EVERTONIAN

Dedicated to All Blue Blooded Family Members and Friends.

GOODISONITIS is a Highly Contagious, Incurable Disease caused by the Bite of the Mersey Blue Bug. It is a Life Condition with No Known Antidote.

Symptoms - Hallucination, Wild Optimism & an Allergy to the Colour Red.

Thank you Dad for your Perception, with my gratitude and compliance.
Refined my Life and Education, at the Goodison School of Science.
Ups and Downs, You taught me well, to accept with Equal Grace.
Every Dog will have its day. A True 'Fact of Life', we all must face.
Everton mean so much to me, My Football Club, I love with passion.
Valued in an Indescribable Way, that just never goes out of fashion.
Expectancy could not be Higher, the Nervous Tension hard to bear.
Regardless of the Last Result, I know next Home Game I'll be there.
The contrast in Emotions, between Goals we Score but then Concede.
Or counting down those Final Minutes, trying to hang on to a Lead.
Naturally Dead Toffee Players go straight up, to 'My Blue Heaven'.
In 'Saint Domigo's League of Angels', we have the 'Best Eleven'.
Although opposing flying wingers shine, against us they've never won.
No Team 'Down Here' or in Skies Above, can 'Eclipse' My Everton.
